EVOLUTION CAT AND DOG FOOD

Evolution: The only pet food company that can guarantee no diseased animals or diseased animal parts!

Federal and state government allow the use of diseased animals in pet food. All other premium & regular brands do not chemically test animals going into their pet food. Heat does not kill all diseased organisms.

Virtually all commercial meat based pet foods, without exception use these ingredients:

- diseased animals and/or by products
- cancerous body parts
- intestines
- feet
- heads
- feathers
- blood
- gonads
- etc.

Evolution does NOT!

The only way a pet food company can guarantee that it does not use slaughterhouse waste and/or diseased animals is not to use animals in its food.

Evolution uses whole natural protein instead of animal by-products and diseased animals.

The pet food industry uses diseased animals to decrease their cost. This includes well-known brands which you are probably already using.

Even the Nutrition Research Council (NRC), AFFCO and the Food and Drug Administration promote the use of animal parts in pet food - from both healthy and diseased animals- that can't be sold for human consumption.

Evolution- A Family Owner and Innovated Corporation Since 1989

Evolution is super- fortified with specific healthful proteins

(lacking in all non-protein fortified pet foods)

Use Evolution because we use the world's best ingredients:

- Natural protein (without animal by-products or diseased animals) from non-bloat inducing soy.
- No growth hormone or antibiotic residue
- Polyunsaturated Vegetable Oil and complete fatty acids (no animal fat)
- No artery-clogging cholesterol
- Added specific proteins for health of heart and urinary tract
- Added vitamins and herbs to enhance immunity and increase life-expectancy
- Low mineral ash, low magnesium; high methionine to prevent kidney obstruction
- All products more than 100% complete (we use the same ingredients-- in different concentrations-- in both our cat and dog foods.)
- Live enzymes that assist in assimilation and utilization of food.
- Hypo-allergenic and vegan
- More concentrated and more easily utilized, it goes 30 to 40% further than regular pet foods, therefore reducing the amount of fecal material to pick up.
- Vitamin A acetate especially needed by cats.

Evolution contains no growth hormones or antibiotics (found in commercial pet foods containing meat)

Farm animal tissue from cows, pigs, chickens, turkeys, lambs and even farm-raised fish all contain growth hormones and antibiotic residues.

Hormones are given to increase growth rates and cause fluid retention to increase kill weight. They are not given to increase the health of the animal.

The facts are that growth hormone residues actually increase the rate of infection and cancer- not only in slaughter animals, but also in the people and pets who eat them!

Current studies by James Mason, Peter Singer and Orville Schell indicate that 75% of the antibiotics and 95% of the steroid growth hormones produced in the U.S. go toward slaughter and dairy animal production.

Unfortunately, even the premium brands that you know so well also use slaughterhouse waste and diseased animals and/or parts. They spend their money on advertising, not ingredients.

- Methionine- to protect the urinary tract from crystallizing, as in FUD in cats
- Taurine- for vision and cardiovascular contactibility
- Carnitine- for cardiovascular contactibility
- Plus vegetarian dog or cat vitamins and trace minerals that prevent certain forms of heart-related illness.

Evolution adds extra vitamins and herbs

(instead of toxic chemical preservatives-- to increase immunity, taste, and shelf life)

Instead of adding toxic preservatives, EVOLUTION adds vitamins to do the same job. Evolution was a pioneer in pet food. Not only do Vitamin C, Beta Carotene and Vitamin E act as anti-aging factors in your food, they do so for your pet as well.

The U.S. and State Governments do not inspect pet food ingredients.

Evolution diet uses pure polyunsaturated vegetable oil instead of saturated animal fat.

(instead of artery clogging animal fat and cholesterol that cause heart and joint disease in humans and animals) Animal fat in all our meat-based competitors' products comes from all kinds of farm animals. Animal fat is the storage depository for toxins, herbicides, pesticides, insecticides, antibiotics and growth hormones. All these are concentrated in animal fat cells.

Cholesterol is the fatty animal protein that packs fat inside arteries -- progressively narrowing them with each meal of regular and so-called "Premium" meatbased pet foods. Cholesterol and saturated fatty acids are only found together in animal fat and tissue.

When you or your pet eat animal fat, the likelihood of immuno-deficiency diseases, as well as cardiovascular and joint diseases, increases with each feeding.
